

Course Title: Spinal Cord Injuries 102 - Spinal Cord Injury: Activities of Daily Living

Course Description: Spinal Cord Injuries 102, Spinal Cord Injury: Activities of Daily Living, is a 3-hour course designed for the clinician working with patients with spinal cord injuries. Activities of Daily Living and Instrumental Activities of Daily Living can be challenging situations for the individual with a SCI. This course will review functional outcomes related to spinal cord injury and will review the various components involved in both ADL and IADL tasks. The clinician will learn concrete tips and therapeutic interventions that can be used to develop treatment plans and guide therapy interventions in order to maximize functional independence. Case studies are used to highlight clinical application. At the end of this course, the learner will have a more comprehensive understanding working with patients with SCI in order to enhance performance of ADL and IADL.
